Machine Learning

Machine learning enables computers to learn patterns from data.

Supervised learning uses labelled training data for prediction tasks.

Common supervised algorithms include linear regression, logistic regression, decision trees, and random fo